Target version:	7.0.0
Description
The endpoints <code>/node_entities</code> and <code>/node_entities_all</code> provides a list of entities linked to administrative unit and historical place. This list only contains <code>id</code>, <code>label</code> and <code>url</code> of the entities. Through a new endpoint <code>/type_entities</code> and <code>/type_entities_all</code> one can also retrieve the entities linked to any type (standard type, custom type, value type and places) in the linked places format (or other implemented formats). Since through the newer endpoints, the same information can be retrieved, I would like to no longer support this endpoint. This means, if ticket #1547 API: API Evolution will be released, this endpoint will be deleted.

Follows Question #1547: API: API Evolution		Closed	2021-07-14

History

#1 - 2021-07-15 17:19 - Bernhard Koschiček-Krombholz

- Follows Question #1547: API: API Evolution added

#2 - 2021-09-15 14:24 - Alexander Watzinger

- Status changed from New to Assigned

#3 - 2021-12-07 10:55 - Bernhard Koschiček-Krombholz

- Target version changed from API to 7.0.0

- Tracker changed from Question to Feature

- Subject changed from API: deprecation of `node_entities` and `node_entities_all` to API: deprecation of `node_entities/node_entities_all` and `subunit/subunit_hierarchy`

Subunit and `subunit_hierarchy` will be deleted in version 0.3. Instead, there is a new endpoint `/subunits/<id>` with the same functionality, only that the results are enriched in a Thanados json format. It is also possible to get this data as simple XML with `?format=xml`.

So in version 0.3 within the OA 7.0.0 following endpoints will be deleted:

- `/node_entities`
- `/node_entities_all`
- `/subunit`
- `/subunit_hierarchy`
